Dear Mr. Swaminathan:

This letter acknowledges receipt of your Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) request dated July 24, 2019. You requested:

- Records mentioning U.S. attorney Darren K. Indyke and deceased individual prominent British publisher Ian Robert Maxwell, also known as Jan Ludvik Hyman Binyamin Hoch (June 10, 1932 - Nov 6, 1991)

We received your request on August 15, 2019 and assigned it case number FOIA-00303-2019. Please use this number on all future correspondence with us regarding your request.

Unfortunately, at this time, we are unable to further process your request due to the following reason:

- Your request does not reasonably describe a connection between the scope of your request, the mission, functions, and tasks of DIA, and potentially relevant records that DIA might hold in its systems of records.

Please refer to the Department of Justice's FOIA.gov website (<https://www.foia.gov>) for information on federal agencies that may apply to your request; additionally, you should consider state and local agencies' FOIA websites, should your request apply to them.

For information about DIA, including its mission and other frequently asked questions, please refer to DIA's website: <https://www.dia.mil>.

We regret that your request can not be further processed at this time. No further action is being taken, and the request is now closed. Additionally, we regret if there has been a delay in our response and solicit your patience and understanding. Please refer to this Agency's, the Department of Justice's, and the Department of Defense's FOIA websites when considering revising and resubmitting your request. DIA's FOIA website is: <https://www.dia.mil/FOIA>. Our FOIA Requester Service Center is available to assist you with any question about resubmitting a proper request. For questions, please contact the FOIA Requester Service Center or our FOIA

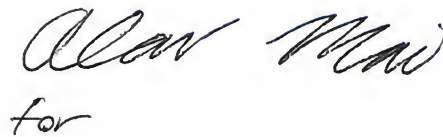

Public Liaison, preferably via email at FOIA@dodiis.mil, or at 301-394-5587, or (fax) 301-394-5356, or the following address:
